

Children were given important tasks to do on the journey to Oregon. They gathered firewood and berries along the way, fished in streams, tended livestock, helped to cook and wash, and took care of their younger brothers and sisters.